

INTRODUCTION

➤ INRODUCTION:

We are developing a website named “HOMESERVICES”. The main objective behind this project is to develop a web-oriented application which can provide home based services features to use the users.

Through the system visitors are able to view different type of services in website and book services. In this project there are two different modules named admin, user.

Admin manages all the modules. He adds or removes different services in the system.

User views the website and book the services. User can pay cash for services after work completion. Charges will be divided after reviewing the problem of a user.

Users are able to give their valuable feedback. Anyone who wants to apply for the serviceman job they can fill the member form.

Now the admin can view the booked services. Using this website admin also can able to book the service according to their needs. If there will be any issue regarding service customer can do complaint.

This website to develop in Asp.net, HTML, JS as a core technology and it's SQL server as a back end.

➤ EXISTING SYSTEM:

- In the existing system booking of services were done manually which is time consuming.
- Reports are prepared manually as and when needed. Maintaining of reports is very tedious task.
- To book any services guest has to collect information about it either by visiting the company or asking people which is the better one.
- There is no computer system for handling services & Payment. All calculations are performed manually which may not be accurate always. Maintaining the record is really a tedious task.

➤ DISADVANTAGES OF EXTISTING SYSTEM:

- System is quite tedious.
- Registration done manually in the system.
- It is time consuming process.
- It difficult and complicated task to maintain heavy registers.
- Lack of accuracy and efficiency since records are maintained manually.

➤ NEED AND SCOPE:

- Computerized system has large storage capacity that is we can store large amount of data at a time.
- Easy and quick report generation due to computerization. Different type of reports such as student report, company details report are easy to generate. We can generate reports as per our requirement in few seconds.
- Required less man power to keep records and maintain it.
- The system is user friendly and less time consuming.

PROPOSED SYSTEM

➤ Proposed System:

- Online Website is specific requirement of the client that integrates the booking the services especially to their customers.
- Need for the new system is due to major drawbacks of existing system and keep themselves in competition of today's globalization world.
- Reports can be generated at any time within few seconds, so that manual labor is not, required and also analysis can be performed much more frequently which helps in taking decisions.
- The details regarding all guest & employee can also be maintained as their information is very helpful and sometimes becomes a critical requirement.
- New employee can add his/her details easily.
- Organization can add new services easily whenever possible and abort if necessary.
- To overcome these problems in existing system we develop "Home Services Website".

➤ OBJECTIVE:

- Online website is specific requirement of the client that integrates the booking services especially to their customers.
- Need for the new system is due to major drawbacks of existing system and keep them in competition of today's globalization world.
- Reports can be generated at any time within few seconds, so that manual labor is not required, and also analysis can be performed much more frequently which helps in decision making.
- The details regarding all users and employee can also be maintained as their information is very helpful and sometimes become a critical requirement.
- Information of new employee can be easily add and update whenever necessary.

- Organization can add new services easily whenever possible and abort if necessary.
- To overcome these problems in existing system we develop “Online Home Services website”

➤ ADVANTAGES OF PROPOSED SYSTEM:

- Computerized system has large storage capacity.
- Due to validations accurate information can be stored.
- Required less man power to keep records and maintain it.
- The system is user friendly and less time consuming.

REQUIREMENT ENGINEERING

Features of .NET –

Interoperability

Because computer systems commonly require interaction between new and older applications, the .NET Framework provides means to access functionality that is implemented in programs that execute outside the .NET environment.

Common Language Runtime Engine

The Common Language Runtime (CLR) is the execution engine of the .NET Framework. All .NET programs execute under the supervision of the CLR.

Language Independence

The .NET Framework introduces a Common Type System, or CTS. Because of the CTS feature, the .NET Framework supports the exchange of types and object instances between libraries and applications written using any conforming .NET language.

Base Class Library

The Base Class Library (BCL), part of the Framework Class Library (FCL), is a library of functionality available to all languages using the .NET Framework. The BCL provides classes which encapsulate a number of common functions. Simplified Deployment

The .NET Framework includes design features and tools that help manage the installation of computer software to ensure that it does not interfere with previously installed software, and that it conforms to security requirements.

Security

The design is meant to address some of the vulnerabilities, such as buffer overflows, that have been exploited by malicious software. Additionally, .NET provides a common security model for applications

Introduction to SQL Server: -

SQL server is a free and easy to use database product. It is designed to provide a database platform that offers superior ease of use, enabling fast deployments for its target scenarios. Features like auto close & the ability to copy database as file which are enabled by default in SQL server, while the high availability & business intelligence features are absent. It is very easy to “scale up”. SQL server was developed with two distinct uses in mind. The first is as server product, especially as a web server or database server. Second is as local client data store where the application data access does not depend on the network. Ease of use and simplicity are the key goals.

The two main usage scenarios of SQL server are:

- Hobbyist building client/server application.
- Non-professional developers building web applications.

Security

For SQL server, one of the goals is to provide secure defaults for the different components. For instance, the networking protocols such as TCP/IP and Named Pipes are turned off. SQL browser service is not started unless the user explicitly asks for this in the setup command line. The SA or system admin account is disabled by default if Windows Authentication is used. Normal users on the machine have almost no privileges on the SQL server instance. A local Administrator on the server must explicitly grant relevant permissions for normal users so that they can use SQL functionality.

❏ Attach 'DB' Filename

You can specify a relative or absolute file path for the Attach DB File Name connection string entry. The specified database file is attached when the connection is opened, and this database is used as the default database for that connection. If the database is already attached when Attach DB File Name is invoked, then attach does nothing. This keyword supports a special string called [Data Directory] that points at runtime to the data directory of the application where database files are stored. This special string should be at beginning of the file path, works only against a local file system, and checks are done for Syntax so that the file path is not higher than the directory pointed to by the substitution string.

❏ Auto Close

This feature releases the file locks on the user database when there are no active connections to it. Thus, the database is ready to be moved or copied after the application that uses it is closed.

Feature Description

Online Restore

With SQL server 2005, database administrators are able to platform a restore operation while an instance of SQL Server is running. Online restore improves the availability of SQL Server because only the data being restored is unavailable; the rest of the database remains online and available.

Online Indexing Operations

The online index option allows concurrent modifications (updates, deletes, and inserts) to the underlying table or clustered index data and any associated indexes during index data definition language (DDL) execution. For example, while a clustered index is being rebuilt, you can continue to make updates to the underlying data and perform query against the data.

Fast Recovery

A new faster recovery option improves availability of SQL Server databases. Administrators can reconnect to a recovering database after transaction log has been rolled forward.

SQL Server Management Studio

SQL Server 2005 includes SQL Server Management Studio, a new integrated suite of management tools with the functionality to develop, deploy and troubleshoot SQL Server database, as well as enhancements to previous functionality.

Dedicated Administrator Connection

SQL Server 2005 provides a dedicated administrator connection that administrators can use to access a running server even if the server is locked or otherwise unavailable. This capability enables administrators to troubleshoot problems on a server by executing diagnostic functions or Transact-SQL statements.

Hosted Common Language Runtime

With SQL Server 2005 developers can create database objects using familiar languages such as Microsoft Visual C#.NET and Microsoft ASP.NET. Developers can also create two new objects –user-defined types and aggregates.

Native XML Support

Native XML data can be stored, queried, and indexed in SQL Server database - allowing developers to build new classes of connected applications around Web services and across any platform or device.

Security Enhancement

The security model in SQL Server 2005 separates users from objects, provides fine-grained access, and enables greater control of data access. Additionally, all system tables are implemented as views, providing more control over database system objects.

Web Services

With SQL Server 2005 developers can develop Web services in the database tier, making SQL Server a hypertext transfer protocols (HTTP) listener and providing a new type of data access capabilities for Web services access capability for Web service – centric applications.

SYSTEM ANALYSIS

Data Flow Diagram

DFD is also known as 'Bubble Chart'. Its purpose is to classify system requirement and identifying major transformation that will become program in a system design. So, it is a starting point of the design phase that functionality decomposes the requirements specifications down to the lowest level of the detail. A DFD consists of series of bubbles joined by lines. The bubbles represent data transmission and line represents data flow in the system.

Following are the different standard signs used in these diagrams and they are representing with its meaning.

- Process: -

- Entity: -

- Database: -

Entity Relationship Diagram (ERD)

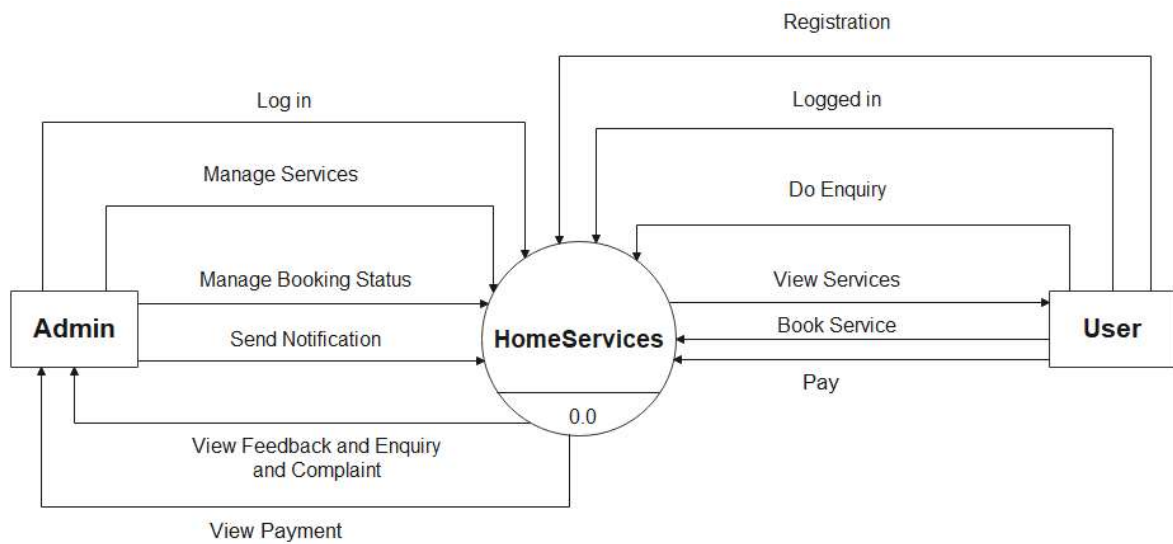

Entity relationship diagram graphically represent overall logical structure of database which includes interactions between entity of various ways. Entity relationship (ERD) illustrates the logical structure of database. Entity relationship ERD's in 1976 since then Charles Bachman and James Martin have added some slight refinements to the basic ERD principles.

It is so clean and modern, making it a pleasure to navigate. The service descriptions are clear and helped me understand exactly what I need. I appreciate the transparency in pricing – it is great to know the costs upfront. The mobile responsiveness is spot on, as I could easily browse and book services on my phone without any issues. Your customer support team was incredibly responsive and provided the information I needed promptly. The testimonials from other customers reassured me that I am choosing a reliable service. Kudos to your team for creating a website that reflects professionalism and makes the entire process seamless!

CONCLUSION

➤ Conclusion:

We have designed web site “HomeServices” for those who want to book a home service. This web site is useful for booking the various types of services which are suitable to everyone.

In this website there are various types of services customer can book online and able to cancel their service. Here we are keeping the customer’s information secretly. We also displays our services with information and terms & conditions policies.

Through this website admin can manage all services and update, insert ,delete services in the admin panel. The price of services can get updated when the new service price is display on website.

Customer can complaint for bad service and Admin can provide right service also. This website are provide service as per customer time need.

➤ Future Enhancement:

This project is completed but still they want to update and modify some modules. We are always thinking about Customer requirements also growing day by day. We always want to implement something more. We will add new feature like Customer is able to easily cancel their registration. In this website we will add extra feature like service man can easily update/edit their profile. We can add other Payment Gateway. We can also add GPS tracking system for service man tracking.

➤ Limitations:

- Service man tracking system is not implemented.
- Less payment gateways are provided.
- The customer does not know whether the complaint made by him/her has been resolved.
